

EXIM Thailand Honored with “Role Model Moral Organization” Award for Third Consecutive Year

The Export-Import Bank of Thailand (EXIM Thailand) has been honored with the “Role Model Moral Organization” award for the third consecutive year in the fiscal year 2024, achieving the “Role Model” level, the highest recognition. In addition, all 27 units within EXIM Thailand were also awarded “Role Model” honors in the office/division category, reflecting the organization’s unwavering integrity across all levels. These prestigious awards were presented by the National Moral Promotion Committee under the Department of Religious Affairs, recognizing moral excellence at the community, organizational, district, and provincial levels. EXIM Thailand’s achievement stems from its leadership and staff’s commitment to upholding five core ethical principles: Sufficiency, Discipline, Honesty, Volunteering, and Gratitude. These are guided by three foundational dimensions: religious principles, the Sufficiency Economy Philosophy, and good Thai cultural values, in alignment with the National Moral Promotion Action Plan Phase 2 (2023-2027). The Bank’s personnel are dedicated to fostering a strong moral and ethical consciousness—values fundamental to developing well-rounded, capable, and principled individuals. This dedication is pivotal in driving both the organization and the nation toward a society free from corruption and misconduct, thereby establishing a sustainable moral organization.
